CRYING OVER SPLIT MILK SINCE 1961

Lest We Forget...

by Janice Savage
Editor-in-Chief

November 11th, 1945, the guns were quieted. The planes landed, the bombs stopped dropping, the clean up of WW II began. Never before had the world seen such devastation; never again would the balance of international power be the same.

Japan had been devastated by a convincing demonstration of American nuclear force. Almost all of Eastern Europe had been occupied by one army or another. Some cheered at the end of the war, others wept at the cost of defeat. The scars ran long, deep and it would be a long time before the wounds would begin to heal.

Hundreds of men have lost their lives in the name of Canada and the allied forces, not just during and before the two world wars, but after the Treaty of Versailles as well. While we remember the men who lost their lives during the war years, we should also take the time to reflect on the other Canadian soldiers who are serving presently.

Canadian soldiers remain in active duty all across the world. For the most part, they serve under the blue beret of the United Nations; a and Somalia, as well as other, less publicized, but no less important, peace keeping missions in places like the universal desire for peace. They are not to fire unless fired upon, they are to aid both sides of the dispute, they are on a humanitarian mission which seems, more and more, to be next to impossible. To say that Canada should have no part of these battles is justified; to think of these brave men and women as interfering where they don't belong is not. These people are heroes with a slightly different mission than their predecessors, but deserve the respect and support of the people at home.

This Remembrance Day we should remember the hundreds of men and women who gave their lives for the home we call Canada. This Remembrance Day we should also think of the hundreds who have not come home yet, who are fighting for peace on a global scale and whose families desperately wish them home for Christmas. Lest we forget...

organization which is discovering a new and more tenuous role than it has ever known before in a world being pulled by both its ethnic origins, and an increasing interdependence among countries.

Canadians put their lives on the line daily in hot spots like Yugoslavia

Cambodia and Gotzland Heights where they face similar challenges and go unthanked and unnoticed.

These are soldiers fighting to end a war with the reluctance of their mother country in the back of their minds. They are there, as Canadians, to represent the United Nations and

Tuition Increase by 50% Outrages Students

From Guy Quenneville

With regards to last week's 'little talk' at Laurentian University on the proposed tuition increase, I was saddened that I could not make any remarks to the panel. With that in mind I have decided to write in attempt to convince others to take a close look at the potential consequences of tuition increases.

I am referring to the proposed 50% tuition increase over two years. What this means to the average student is that tuition would increase from the present level of $2300 to $3300. The reasoning for this proposal as given by Peter George, President of the Council of Ontario Universities, is that the federal and provincial governments have cut financing to the point that Ontario's Universities will no longer be able to maintain their present standards of education or have any opportunities to improve on those standards. The only solution therefore is to hike tuition fees to compensate for the governments cutbacks. We know that the government is cutting back, so why not increase tuition to compensate for the lack of and continued cuts in funding of post-secondary education. Others may think that students have no financial concerns because of the perceived unlimited loans, so why not raise tuition fees? Any argument in support of tuition increase is wrong and misguided, and will have severe consequences on the education of Canada's young people.

The simple fact that once tuition fees are raised, accessibility to higher education is limited. Anyone who is interested in pursuing post-secondary education, would suffer under a tuition increase as massive as the one proposed and would bear a much larger debt load going into the years of uncertain job prospects. In this increasingly information oriented world, access to higher education should be the top social priority of any government striving for economic growth. If we can not invest into education of our young people, with moneys that are clearly there, as shown by the proposal to build the EH-101 helicopters, what kind of future will post-secondary students have? Clearly, the solution is not to hike tuition, but to lobby the government for proper funding of education.

Please do not assume that all university students have the financial backing of their families, or even if they do that their families can afford to pay higher tuition. You have to consider the individual realities of students who would not be able to continue their education under a tuition increase. I think this is quite obvious given the many part time students who are already struggling to meet the costs of education.

I found it amusing when it was suggested, during the panel discussion, that in Australia studies indicate that some women are paying regular monthly installments into their fifties to cover their educational expenses. Ontario premier said that those who benefit from post-secondary education should pay their fair share. Yet it is standard for those who benefit from post-secondary education to also pay more in taxes. Those who support the proposed tuition increase seem unaware of the cause-effect relationship that would occur. An increase would reduce the opportunities and the future quality of life of many talented people who for whatever reason are restricted from access to higher education. Who wants to suffer a debt that is equivalent to a mortgage?

These are not the good days when a person could quit high school and get a suitable job. Many of today's young people have feelings of hopelessness and helplessness in this ever changing world. Increased tuition will not serve to encourage them to continue their education. To me, the solution to our university's financial woes is obvious. The government must be prepared to finance education, which is the key to a prosperous country in a competitive world. The Ontario Council of Universities and Laurentian's president should endeavor to lobby the government for increased funding of Ontario universities, especially Laurentian. Why? Because a mind is a terrible thing to waste, and there is no arguing that.

FINANCIAL AID

Hey, Gekko, I don't hope for your expulsion from the paper! I hope that you are around for a long time so that we of the right mind (that's psychology talk) can run you over the coals and ring you out in public like the fascist twerp you are. I'm looking forward to the rest of the school year now. Bring it on my comrade, bring it on. Just one thing, my little republican patron, please be more literate than what we see on the bathroom stall walls, that stuff is real weak. You know what though? Even though you did get your name from a bad charlie sheen/micheal douglas movie, people might still side with you more because of the ugly conservatism (I call it 'sheepism') that runs through the classes of this school. There is a pretty tough gap in this town between agents of expression and agents of mobilization, thanks to the big corporation scumbags like Telemedia and Baton that only serve to homogenize the people and keep them shopping instead of thinking. Of course, you might say that this is what people should be doing in order to get the economy going. You might also say that since communism is dead, we must put our faith in the 'now proven' system of capitalism. Well, my laissez faire friend, I might agree if communism had ever existed before it had "failed", but I believe that corporations should do business that doesn't take advantage of the people still being brainwashed by the powerful, existing agents of socialization.

So now you know that someone is waiting for you, Gekko. I'm waiting for you to do the Rush Limbo thing so that my Noam Chomskyism can kick your ideological butt!!

One of the many ways that liberalism (in a general sense, not the political party) captured and has held power is through disempowerment. They get people feeling that they have no voice and then proceed to monopolize that voice on behalf of the militants. One notable is the issue of race.

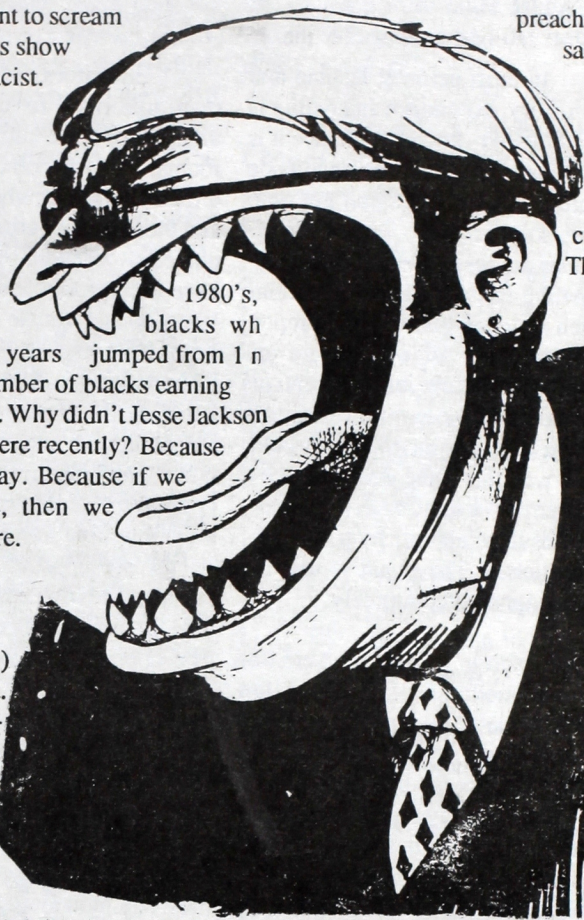

Before I proceed, I should tell you what my definition of race is. I believe that there is only one race, the human race. There is no black, white, oriental or any other kind of race. A difference of religion, culture or skin pigmentation does not equate a different race. If that was true, then there would be thousands of races of dogs. Because we are all of one race, theoretically, we should be united in solving those problems that grip the world. But we aren't, and here's why.

It all comes down to the "politics" of race. Left-wingers get into power by dividing us apart. People like Jesse Jackson hammer into us that no matter what one segment does, it's committing racism against the other. An example, in New York the mayoral election occurred on Tuesday. U.S. President Clinton, in a speech, stated that right-winger Rudolph Giuliani (who won this time) was leading in the polls because New Yorkers were covert racists. An analysis of the 1989 election proves Clinton wrong. Among blacks, 6% voted for white Giuliani while 94% voted for black Dinkins. Among whites, 30% voted for Dinkins while 70% voted for Giuliani. If we want to scream racism, then I think the facts show who should be considered racist. But I don't play that game.

Liberals want us divided, it gives them their power. Liberals don't tell you that during the 1980's, the number of American blacks who attended college for four years jumped from 1 million to 2 million and the number of blacks earning $50,000 or more jumped 50%. Why didn't Jesse Jackson tell you that when he was here recently? Because the truth drives liberals away. Because if we become united as a race, then we wouldn't need them anymore.

Conservatism (not PC of Canada) preaches self-empowerment. Go to school, stay out of trouble, work hard and you will achieve in life. Don't rely on others. Liberals rely on the opposite. I believe that Malcolm X was a black conservative. Why? Because he preached the exact same thing that Rush Limbaugh says today. Liberals rely on scare tactics to make you think you're less than what you are because of somebody else, so you can rely on the liberals.

Does this mean that there is no racism? Of course not, I don't live in an ideal world. There are those fools on all sides that create havoc. But racism is here to stay as long as we play the racial game. Forever focused on the things that divide us, we will never be able to stand arm to arm to combat the real evils that threaten to erode society. If I am a racist because I believe that we are all fundamentally the same, that we are all humans, and not easy categories to be slot into, then I accept the label.

But I consider myself a person who judges a human being on what they've done, not the narrow minded consideration of color. Follow the liberals (the philosophy, not necessarily the political party) and you'll forever be judged by the color of your skin.

Attention: Notice of Arrest and Apprehension of Alleged Sexual Assault Offender

ATTENTION!

On Saturday, October 16, 1993, a female member of the general public was allegedly sexually assaulted while swimming in the Olympic Gold Pool in the B.F. Avery Physical Education Centre.

The incident was later reported and an investigation was conducted immediately. Precautions were taken to ensure the safety of the University community during the investigation. Shortly thereafter, an arrest of the alleged perpetrator was made by the Sudbury Regional Police and charges were laid.

Via Greyhound

Tania Zulkoskey
Contributor

It started again this past Thanksgiving weekend. My adventures aboard Canada's trusty ol' Greyhound Bus Service. Although I don't anticipate too much during this midnight trip to Ottawa, anything can and will happen.

This summer I took the bus from Sudbury to Edmonton. Yes, Edmonton Alberta. (And you thought the car ride to TO. was rough!) Picture this and try not to regurgitate: three days on a bus, no showers, slimy smelly people nest to you, screaming kids and a plugged toilet. Yours for only $300.00!

The Greyhound is a bonding experience. People, gum and snot stuck to you for hours on end. And you thought the prices were high in the caf; a little shop in Saskatchewan could probably pay off half our deficit in one year because of the prices of their egg sandwiches. Although, somewhere between Thunder Bay and Prince Albert there is a payphone that still only costs a dime. I also got to finish "The World According to Garp" and half of my correspondence course while hogging two seats for a day and a half.

Travel once, watch the prairies roll by then wave to me from the plane. When Tom Cochrane wrote "life is a highway, I wanna ride it all night long. If you're going my way, I wanna drive it all night long" he obviously was not traveling via Greyhound!

The Bookstore:

by Janice Savage
Editor-in-Chief

The commercial space in the student centre that once belonged to Kampus Kuts, a hair dressing salon will soon be home to an expansion of the Bookstore. The space, measuring 309 square feet, was designated as commercial space at the time that the Student Centre was constructed, and this year's Student Centre's Management Committee refused to budge, despite the abundance of applications for space in the Clubs Room.

Kampus Kuts was evicted from the student centre during the summer after failing to pay the required rent for quite some time. Advertisements were put out inviting applications for occupancy. The new occupant must be a business, able to pay the rent, be accessible to students and, preferably, provide a service not currently offered on campus.

The Student Centre Management Committee had three proposals. The first was for a store with fantasy theme, specializing in the booming comic book industry along with related paraphernalia. The two students who brought the proposal forward presented the committee with graphs and charts presenting their predicted earnings for the first year; they had already been running a similar mail order business out of their basement.

The second student proposal belonged to two students who already have a reputation in Laurentian as being upstanding and responsible. They proposed to use the space as a kind of convenience store which would indirectly be in competition with the Bookstore and Marriott Foods who currently enjoy a monopoly over goods in the Laurentian student market. They proposed to sell L.U. wear and marketing the products of specific organizations on campus, as well as items commonly found in the average convenience store.

After long deliberations, the Committee chose to go with the safe bet instead of taking a chance on students. The Bookstore, which was expected to begin renovations on the space immediately, will be using the space to provide the same kind of service suggested by the second student proposal. (Remember, Marriott still has the food and beverage monopoly, so don't expect to pay any less for a Crispy Crunch.) The space is still empty and there are still no signs of the Bookstore moving in.

On May 24, 1993 the Off-Campus Housing Office was born. The Office experienced its first summer and what a summer it was. The telephone never stopped ringing and it was great. Of the 2,007 contacts made for the months of July and August, 91% were made by phone. That's more than 45 rings a day. The students made 529 contacts (26%), the proprietors, 642 (32%) and the answering machine takes the cake with 837 (42%). These numbers do not include May and June as the system was still in the developmental stages.

To better serve students, office hours were also extended to two Sundays (August 8 and 15). Over the two days, nearly 40 students and their friends and family took advantage of the facilities. Telephones, maps, lists, and bus information were available to them.

Now that students have found accommodation for this year, many new projects are being proposed for the next eight months in order to prepare for another even better summer. The priorities will be on improving the housing services, such as producing a survey, providing information brochures, establishing a registration fee for proprietors, evaluating accommodation and providing students with access to free telephones and volunteers to drive them around if required.

Also proposed, are new projects which would expand the services to include a car pooling system, student information centre and budget planning sessions.

The main focus of the Off-Campus Housing Office remains to help students find and secure decent and affordable housing. The housing list will continue to be available throughout the school year.

Check out the housing board in the hallway next to the office (L-229) where we keep copies of the list and brochures. Help yourself!

Again stay informed and stay tuned to the Lambda for future articles pertaining to your rights as a tenant.

Queer Pedagogy: surrounded & silence

NOTE: Thanks to Christopher Barnes (Vanilla) for his interest in this article that appeared in an earlier french section of lambda.(Ha! Ha!)

by Ellisa Horscroft
source: York Federation of Students, Handbook and Agenda 1992-93

Being a lesbian or gay student is what could be described as a "queer" experience. That is to say that often we feel odd, out-of-place, different, suspect. Of course, this is no coincidence - many people go out of their way to show us that, to them, being queer means all these things and more. Dykes and fags at [Laurentian] are often the subject of stares, whispers, and damning comments. And of course we are one of the favorite subjects for bathroom literature.

As students, one of the biggest abuses we face is in the classroom. It is here we learn not so much that queers are evil or abnormal, but that we don't exist at all. Heterosexuality is not only accepted, it is celebrated and promoted to the exclusion of all else. We are surrounded by straight students, straighter professors, and the straightest administrators money can buy. From the President's office to the teaching assistant's classroom there is a long series of decisions being made which result in the systematic abuse of queer students. We end up either silenced completely or forced to lie about our sexuality.

In most courses, lesbian and gay history, experience and reality is not addressed - and if by chance it is mentioned, it is quickly brushed aside in order that the class can get onto 'more solid ground'. Professors often fear addressing such topics, anticipating nasty student evaluations which may potentially lead to repercussions at the time of tenure appointments. Teachers at [Laurentian] who have dared to mention the words lesbian and gay in the classroom, know well that there will likely be a number of complaints to higher authorities that "all they harp on is homosexuals." The result is that the issue is ignored completely.

Even in programs where traditional methods of teaching are tossed aside in favour of more progressive and inclusive ones, lesbian and gay issues are not only shirked but subjugated by repeated focus on heterosexuality. It sounds strange and manipulative, but frankly, what we have now is active recruitment towards heterosexuality. The sick irony is that one only has to mention lesbians or gays for the briefest moment to be accused of coming-on to someone, or hating straights, or recruiting to "homosexuality", or being just generally fucked up. Meanwhile, we are not only ignored in the classroom, but in fact coerced to recognize heterosexuality as the only legitimate way of life and expression of sexuality.

Educators, of course, have responsibility to challenge the thoughts of those sitting in the classrooms. This becomes increasingly difficult, however, when deans, chairs and those on the [eleventh] floor, do not care whether queer students have a comfortable environment to learn in and refuse to show solid support for teachers who discuss lesbians and gays. Professors and TAs, knowing the repercussions and potential hatred one faces if labeled queer, and realizing the lack of support throughout the entire institution, are not willing to take up the battle. All this presupposes that if given the support, a teacher would happily engage in discussions of queer reality. The opposite is generally the case and as so, students are encouraged to remain bolted behind the closet door. For many, the silence can be as overbearing as the invisibility is safe.

The 'out' student faces a number of unique challenges. The most common reaction to the student who refers to their sexuality is shocked silence as both classmates and teachers alike "wonder if they really meant to say that," or if it was a "slip". This response is directly related to the attitude that sexuality is not an issue for education but should be delegated to the bedroom. Often the entire issue is glossed over in an attempt to 'let' the student pretend it didn't happen. More importantly, it allows the rest of the class to pretend the same thing. The queer student is taught through this process of selective hearing that there are only certain things that can be addressed within the sacred confines of the classroom. Queer reality, the one which they happen to identify with, the one that informs what they learn and how they see things is not one of them.

It would be impossible to adequately describe the feelings which this treatment brings out. But imagine for a moment if the roles were changed. What would it be like for a heterosexual in a society which was predominantly queer?

You walk into class, just like you do every other day wondering if there are other straight students in there. You figure there must be since according to statistics 10% of all people are straight. Nobody ever talks about straight issues except in terms of this mythical "them" or "other". You are surrounded by queers. Everything you read is about queers. Every movie you watch in class has only queer people talking about their lives and problems. Nobody in the class has said they are straight, probably because they are afraid of being stared at, of being treated like they are diseased, of being thought of as perverted, of being called names like "breeder" or "het," or perhaps they're afraid of just being ignored. For all you know you are the only straight person in the room, and the only one who sees your sexuality as loving, caring, warm and beautiful. There is no one to talk to about it so part of you believes everything that they say about straight people - even though it doesn't feel that it could be true. All you know is that you have a big secret which can never be revealed. You must never be caught. Maybe you cover up through some other method. Whatever happens, your classroom experience is one of masks and secrets and foreign identities. You are in all ways an outsider.

This is the experience which many lesbians and gays, first coming to university and expecting a new freedom, endure in isolation. If the discriminatory effects of the heterosexual classroom continue to be ignored, this isolation will continue. If administrators and others in positions of power and responsibility continue to ignore these problems, universities will continue to serve only a portion of those enrolled. The reality is that the magnitude of homophobia in the classroom is reflective of the deeply rooted discriminatory mores of the entire institution. Before we can educate others, however, we must educate ourselves. This education starts with the premise that queers are not the problem ... homophobia is the problem.

Hong Kong Students Association The Executive Committee

By: Charity Wong, Association President

On behalf on the HKSA, I would like to introduce to you our newly formed executive committee.

As shown in the above picture, from the very left, is our Vice-President, Public Relations, Rachel Fung. Rachel is in her second year of the Psychology Program and this is her fourth year since she left Hong Kong. Her responsibilities consist of corresponding with all the universities Hong Kong Students Association in Ontario, announcing these communications to the membership during our activities. More importantly, Rachel is to maintain good relations with all members as well as the community and she is expected to maintain a communications link with the student body, faculty, and the general public. Rachel's outstanding interpersonal skills will surely benefit the HKSA.

Right next to Rachel is myself, Charity, President of the HKSA. My responsibilities include generation external sponsorship from the community, chairing all meetings and delegating tasks equally to all executive members. In addition, I shall direct the executive members in the organization of activities. My seven years in Canada have given me a good understanding of the cultures and norms in this country. Four years in Laurentian commerce Program have enhanced my leadership and organizational skills.

Next to me is our Vice President, Cultural, Priscilla Ma. Priscilla is in her second year of Social Science and this is her third year living in Canada since she came from Hong Kong. As the VP, Cultural, Priscilla shall advance Hong Kong culture to the general student population. She will introduce Hong Kong to the membership and our guests. Moreover, she shall especially concentrate on festival activities. With the considerable amount of knowledge of Hong Kong culture Priscilla possesses, I am certain that she will fulfill this position satisfactorily.

Next to Priscilla is our Vice President, Finance, Peggy Chan. Peggy has been in this country for four years since she left Hong Kong. She is in second year Economics and through her understanding of management accounting she will enhance her ability to perform this job. Her tasks include the book keeping, budgets, income statements and the maintenance of a reasonable amount of petty cash. Most importantly, she shall work closely with the president to keep the operating costs down. Besides, Peggy is to make certain that all funds are properly allocated to activities.

The gentleman in front (left) is John Shields, our Vice President, Environmental Liaison. As our world becomes increasingly smaller, the state of the environmental is a rapidly growing concern. Obviously, John is not Hong Kongese, he is Canadian. We are very happy to recruit him in our executive. John is taking third/fourth year Earth Science and his studies surely will assist him in some of his responsibilities. They consist of insuring that association activities are conducted in a environmentally friendly manner, he will liaise between the club and large environmental organizations such as Greenpeace, the Sierra Club, Pollution Probe, etc. John shall also promote environmental awareness inside and outside the HKSA and work towards creating an ongoing link between Hong Kong environmental groups and the HKSA. Other responsibilities include aiding the executive members in the day to day tasks required in keeping the association Viable.

Last but not least, the gentleman next to John is our Vice President, Activity, Martin Lee. Martin is in second year Economics and this is his third year in this country. Like most of the executive members, he is from Hong Kong as well. Martin's extraordinarily energetic and outgoing character make him fit this job perfectly. His tasks include organizing activities according to members preference, finding suitable locations, mailing reservations, determining the appropriate number of champions for each tournament, and ordering the trophies.

Finally, we would like to take this opportunity to announce that we have one position open, Vice President, Marketing. The majority of the responsibility would be to conduct and analyze surveys for proposed activities and advertising club events. We would prefer a student who has completed at least one year of a marketing course to help us. Rewards will be an excellent opportunity to practice what you have learned. Other than obtaining high degree of self-recognition and self-satisfaction, the HKSA will issue a certificate of appreciation as well as a reference letter at the end of the year.

Our association objectives were published a week ago in Lambda. If any party is interested in knowing more about us and/or the Vice President, Marketing position, please feel free to give us a ring at 688-9802.

CHOICES CT / CHOIX ADULTE

F213 and C105 computer rooms

The interactive career exploration program CHOICES CT (for Career Transition) or CHOIX ADULTE is available now for the use of all students and employees of Laurentian University.

The Counseling & Resource Centre and Employee Relations/Personnel Office jointly offer this service, available at all hours, including weekends on the Novell Network. When Computer Services has increased its capacity in a week or so, the program can be offered via Novell to any office linked to the CMPSRV network.

CHOICES CT can meet many career exploration needs and help in career decision-making. Some of these needs are:

- to obtain information about specific occupations
- to sort occupations according to their potential to meet personal needs, preferences or expectations;

- to expand or reduce the number of career possibilities to be considered;
- to explore career alternatives based on personal priorities and values;
- to identify appropriate training and/or education alternatives
- and to verify appropriateness of pre-conceived career considerations.

The user may begin with Occupations which offers Explore, a section which asks the user to prioritize aspects of the work world such as Education (i.e., do you want only those occupations listed which require a university degree, or also those requiring less?), Interests (for best results, list only the top 2 or 3), and so on. The sections, Specific and Compare, give you up-to-date descriptions of occupations and how they relate to the requirements you specified for your ideal occupation. Related will give you a list of related occupations not included in the original list.

The second method of using CHOICES CT is to begin with the Career Area Interest Checklist, a questionnaire of 144 work tasks to which you give your reaction. At the end of the exercise, the program assesses your levels of interest in the 12 Career Areas. You then enter the Occupations section for your list and sublist of occupations related to your expressed interest.

The third method is to select Transferable Skills, for those who have had a number of years in the work force. By entering the list of jobs you have held and other factors, you can generate a list of occupations which use the skills you have already mastered and which you may or may not wish to continue to use.

The Education component of the program covers all educational institutions in Canada. Whatever occupation you select, you will be able to find where the appropriate training is offered, the address of the institution, whether it has living accommodations, what the admission criteria are - even a form letter asking for further information and the institution's calendar.

You can spend one hour with Choices or one evening or several. It is an extremely useful tool, but only if you use it. Please remember that it reacts to the choices you make and data that you enter. It is not a crystal ball and cannot guess where you will find the greatest success and challenge. Only you, the user, can do that.

BACHELOR OF EDUCATION

The BEd Degree program at Nipissing is a one-year limited enrolment program taught at primary/junior, junior/intermediate and intermediate/senior levels.

Our small class size of approximately 35 students ensures personal attention from professors. Our practice teaching policy allows you, in most cases, to choose the location of your practice teaching.

Options offered during the year are Education of Native Children, Second Language Teaching, French or Religious Education in the Roman Catholic Separate Schools.

And we have a generous entrance scholarship program. For more information contact the Office of the Registrar at the address below.

"Who Ya Gonna Call?"

by Norma MacRae-Ward
LU Harassment Officer

° referral to other sources of support and information
° information about the LU complaint procedures

Since June 11 of this year, the mandate regarding the kinds of harassment addressed by Norma and the Harassment Education and Complaints Committee has been expanded to include all of the categories of Harassment covered by the Ontario Human Rights Code, including:

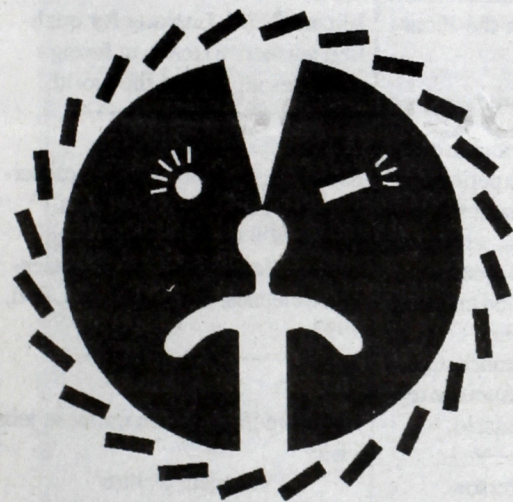

race
ancestry
place of origin colour
ethnic origin
citizenship creed sex
sexual orientation
age
record of offences
marital status
family status
handicap

For more information on the Laurentian Policy and Complaints Procedure, contact Norma at extension 3422.

Larry Denomme is LU's new Associate Chief of Security. His department is the one whose phone number you really ought to have: 673-6562 or after hours 673-2661. Although new to campus, Larry has already become a well-known face and has made himself very accessible to students and their concerns—he wants to hear from you!

This is by no means a complete list of people to call when you need help. Student Services, Health Services, your residence assistant, members of your student government—the list goes on. The main message here is:

When you have a problem, get some help with it. You don't have to deal with it alone.

Yes, Laurentian, things ARE changing. In recent times the University has renewed its commitment to services for you, the students. But, oh no! This has created a whole new dilemma: with all of these helpful faces, who ya gonna call?

Claude Roy is the new Laurentian University Ombudsperson. Claude works for student rights and his mandate includes the following:

- ° To investigate any grievance that may arise against the University (or its boards, committees, departments, etc) or against anyone employed by the University, normally after other forms of appeal have been tried
- ° To act as a mediator
- ° To provide general information on university policy and procedures
- ° To bring findings and recommendations to the appropriate authority

Claude is an extremely helpful and supportive person who has his office in Room 924 of the R.D. Parker building, on the same floor as the Harassment Office.

And, speaking of the Harassment Office, Norma MacRae-Ward is in her fourth year of providing the following services:

- ° information on Harassment and Harassment Prevention
- ° advice on addressing harassment situations

COMPLIMENTS OF: FOOD SERVICES COMMITTEE RECIPE

Vic's Chili

Everyone knows someone who makes a great chili and Vic was the fire-breathing dragon who taught me this version.

Preparation time: 20 minutes
Cooking time: 60 minutes
Serves five

Heat in a large pot over medium heat:
1 tbsp. (15 mL) oil

Add:
1/2 lb. (0.25 kg) hamburger
Fry until brown. Drain grease.

While the hamburger is cooking, chop up:
1 stalk celery
1 green pepper
2 small cooking onions
1 cup (250 mL) fresh mushrooms
Add vegetables to meat.

Add:
1 can, 19 oz. (540 mL) kidney beans, undrained
1 can, 5 1/2 oz. (156 mL) tomato paste
1 can, 14 oz. (396 mL) tomatoes
2 fresh tomatoes, chopped
Cook for 30 minutes over low heat, covered.

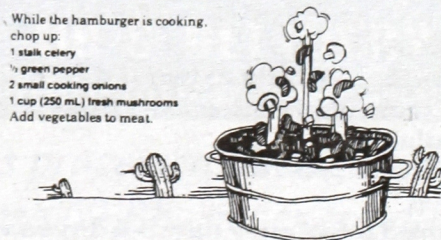

Add:
1/2 to 2 tsp. (2 to 10 mL) chili powder
1/2 tsp. (1 mL) cayenne
1/2 tsp. (2 mL) pepper
Cook over low heat for another 30 minutes, covered.

Don't Start Without:
cutting board
knife
large pot with lid can opener
measuring cup
measuring spoons
large spoon

Helpful Hints:
• Spices can be temperamental. The chili powder is not given in an exact amount because you may like your chili mild or spicy. The longer the spices cook, the stronger they get. Cayenne is an especially tricky character.

• Many chili connoisseurs believe it isn't the real McCoy if it doesn't cook for literally hours. I don't agree with that theory. If you have the time, though, it doesn't hurt to let the chili cook longer.

Serving Ideas:
• Chili is best with fresh bread and liquid of your choice. Have lots to drink on hand, especially if you've been heavy on the spices.
• Although this recipe makes enough for five, you won't have trouble using it up. It keeps well in the fridge or freezer.

ENTERTAINMENT PROFILE

Sarah McLachlan

by Glenn Scott
Entertainment Editor

Only 25 years old, Sarah McLachlan has already reached a level of artistic maturity that most singer / songwriters never attain. Since releasing her haunting debut, Touch, in 1988, and Solace in 91, the Halifax, Nova Scotia native has fervently explored her own unique musical territory, indifferent to prevailing trends or fads; her alternately soaring and intimate vocals and her moody, evocative songs convey a sense of passion and honesty that is rare in today's climate.

With the release of her third full length effort, Fumbling Towards Ecstasy, Sarah unveils her most personal direct album to date. The culmination of six months in a Montreal studio with long-time producer Pierre Marchand, Fumbling

Towards Ecstasy reflects the many changes she underwent during the two year period since her last album, Solace, was released. Sarah describes writing the album as "a kind of therapy", during which she overcame many long-standing fears and concerns by learning to articulate them in her work. The album's title is a metaphor for the difficult process of stripping away the parts that keep one from achieving happiness and fulfillment.

The songs on Fumbling Towards Ecstasy examine issues of self-deception and self-actualization from many perspectives. "Possession", the album's dark and driving lead-off track was written from the point of view of an obsessive fan. It is an examination of a fan's overwhelming need to control someone he knows only through music. Blind promises of love are intertwined with images of desperation and violence, creating a tense and threatening mood that is underscored by the track's propulsive rhythm and raw guitar interjection. Some of the new songs are in contrast lighter and more whimsical than anything Sarah has previously penned. "Before, I didn't want to write when I was happy," she explains. "It was almost as if I needed to be depressed in order to be creative". But part of her artistic and personal maturation has been learning to enjoy the good things in her life.

Sarah will be performing at the Grand Theatre on November 12. Don't miss it!

Sudbury Saturday Night (Mon, Tues, Wed, Thurs, Fri, Sun)

by Glenn Scott
Entertainment Editor

So, you're still adamant that Sudbury is a barren wasteland in terms of things to do eh? This article is for those who have immigrated to Sudbury, and those who have lived here for a while. I hope you find it useful.

Let's start with the major attractions. I know what you're thinking, ya ya, seen it, done it, had it, right? But seriously, when was the last time you checked out what was going on at Science North? They're open all day and on the weekends, ible, and I guarantee that you will not experience anything quite like this again.

Okay, so putting aside all of the Sudbury pamphlet propaganda, what else is there to do? Stick around!

As you may have noticed, I've started a "What's On" column in the Entertainment section. This is designed to give you an idea of some of the things that are going on in and around the city. So you want music right! Sudbury's host of nightclubs and bars offer a large musical variety. Places like the Townhouse Tavern offer an alternative style of music while places like the International (the "I"), Frood, Coach House, and Nickel City offer a great variety of Rock, and all feature live bands.

But why not for once try something different? I'll bet you've never tried Line-dancing right. Don't curl your lip! As the saying goes, "don't knock it till you've tried it." At the Rodeo in the Sorrento Hotel, you can participate or just watch the line dancing. I can guarantee that the people day nights should be spent at Casey's Roadhouse in the Four Corners. It's close to the university, and I guarantee that you'll have an amazing time. The music is great, the food is excellent (and cheap), and I assure you that the people are there for one purpose...to have a good time! Saturday Night's schedule should include Backstreet. It's dance music, non-stop, and I assure you that it's a great mix (not the same old shit).

So, the next complaint I've heard is that Sudbury doesn't cater to everyone's needs and wants. Well, once again you're wrong. In terms of music, you can enjoy great blues music at Borky's Bar & Grill, and Jazz at Huntington College. You want culture, you've got it! Sudbury's Symphony performs regularly at the Fraser auditorium and throughout the city. Sudbury Chamber Choirs including the renowned Bel Canto Choir can be heard regularly at St. Andrew's Place and abroad, not to mention great vocal performances of all types at Huntington.

Continuing on the culture wave, why not check out Sudbury's Art Museum on John St. The venue itself was once the mansion of John Bell, one of the most influential citizens in the early part of the century. Within the museum, there is a craft shop "The Attic" which features the artwork and crafts created by some of the talented artisans in Sudbury and throughout the north. La Galerie du Nouvel-Ontario is another exhibition host, and regularly has showings of prominent francophone artists from all across Canada. Try it out, you'll be surprised!

As for just sitting around and shooting the breeze with friends, Sudbury has many cafés and bistros that must be visited. The Cortina Cafe,

Elm St. Bistro, Crystals in the Civic Square, Vesta Pasta and the new running throughout November, and a number of hit productions will follow.

Theatre Cambrian is a Community based theatre guild and has been hailed as one of Ontario's best. With mega-productions like Jesus Christ Superstar, Hair, Grease, West Side Story and Dangerous Liaisons, this theatre group is definitely a must-see. This season will include the hit musical Evita.

On campus, one can enjoy many different facets of Applegrove Bistro are some of Sudbury's best. The Beef n' Brand Restaurant, the Snowflake Room and the new Senator Bar & Grill offer great views of the cityscape, and the cuisine and service are exceptional, not to mention the prices are reasonable.

If you're looking for a few laughs, why not check out Zaps club on Notre Dame. Comedy at its best can be seen weekly, and the acts are A-1.

The Grande Theatre, Sudbury Theatre Centre, Theatre Cambrian and Sudbury Theatre Guild boast some of the finest entertainment going. The Grande's upcoming entertainers include The Rankin Family, Spirit of the West, Moxy Fruvous, Sarah McLaughlin, Grapes of Wrath (now called Ginger), and Nana Mouskouri. And that's just November's line-up. The other venues are boasting great seasons as well. The Sudbury Theatre Centre's production of the musical "FIRE" will be entertainment. The SGA and AEF are constantly providing the students with free concerts. In November, the SGA is hosting the likes of the Satellites, Brad Stine, The Young Americans, and the Wharf Rats. The Pub is a great time on Thursday nights, and if you're willing to brave the line-ups, I guarantee that you'll have fun. Movies are shown every Friday night around the campus and they are usually free or have a small fee. The different departments are always hosting guest speakers to lecture on different subjects, and the Falconbridge Lecture Series' are not to be missed.

Good luck on your search for something to do in our fair city. There's something for everyone in Sudbury and it's up to you to pursue it. Stop whining and get out there. If you don't have a car, then take the bus, or pool a cab. Basically, get off your butts and do something. I know that you will be surprised!

Broadway Bound

Famous People Players to visit Sudbury

by Glenn Scott
Entertainment Editor

On November 22, the Famous PEOPLE players are heading to Sudbury, before going to New York. We will have a chance to preview "A Little More Magic" during a 18 city tour of Ontario.

This internationally acclaimed group, whose larger than life, black-lit characters have dazzled audiences from Broadway to the People's Republika of China, performed regularly as part of Liberace's show in Las Vegas for ten years.

This spectacular show features music, folklore, fairy tales and incredible life sized characters of your favourite stars.

The magic of the show is the wonderfully imaginative iridescent puppets from Elton John to the fabulous Phil Collins — who literally float through the air. the magic behind the show is the talented puppeteers — "What you see is sensational, what you don't see is inspirational."

Their Sudbury performance follows a week of performances at the Canadian Embassy in Washington, D.C. for Hillary Clinton's favourite charity, the Children's Defense Fund. Tickets are available through the Grand Theatre box office. Don't miss it!

I wake up this morning with mystery on the table, whispers on the telephone and questions in the mail.

Threats lie on the floor
like casings at the crime scene.
Action that has dogged me
smolders silent in the hall.

Pain and bloodshed left their statement,
now I pay whoever sent them.
Love and luck leave arm in arm as the ceiling starts to rain.

My mind recoils. I try to drag this body from a chalk mark.
Rumor haunts my heartbeat,
shadows lean across my soul.

Jump back in time...No, not that far! Position yourself between July 23 and August 22. There, that's better. You are now in the sign of Leo, King of the zodiac (I feel like I'm introducing Jean-Claude Van Damme in an interstellar battle). Represented by the lion, Leos can be lazy pussycats or ferocious, hungry hunters. Which ever one you are, read carefully... you may learn something. If you are not a Leo, read anyway: I'm not writing this for me!

Leos are born leaders (maybe in the wrong century, but heh!). Organizers and administrators par excellence, their energy, drive, and ambitious nature demand that they be admired. Like the lion, Leos portray nobility and courage. They possess great strength of character and base their activities on logic and honesty. Being EXCEEDINGLY proud, Leos believe they are entitled to start at the top since no one is better suited for it (sound like Q much)? Their aggressiveness and arrogance can be helpful to them if they are in a position to get away with it. (Remember the knight, in Monty python and the Search for the Holy Grail, when his arms got chopped off: Ah! tis Just a flesh wound!)

Self-indulgent, domineering, and vain, Leos have a tendency to bring their listeners to the conclusion that everyone would be better off if this feline was accidentally lynched (could it be Q again)? Their pompous attitude requires them to be careful when and where they bend over in order not to wake up next Tuesday.

But, when channeled properly, their strength can inspire the most pessimistic people. (Put 'em up, put 'em up. Ill fight you with one paw tied behind my back)! Gifted with personal magnetism, they can be very popular (if they keep their egos in check). Leos adore children (their own) and make excellent parents since they retain some of their childishness and immaturity... like a sponge. Harmony is essential to them in their home life...or it turns out to be a remake of the Rocky Horror Picture Show.

On the other hand, when Leos are "hunting", they can be extremely insensitive, rude, and cutting. They demand admiration and work to obtain a fan club (the Q Continuum is now in session)! Commanding, whether in the boardroom or the bedroom, is essential to their happiness. Leos can be force full, domineering, and stubborn when their possessiveness is in gear. They can also be obsessed with material gain since their lifestyle is usually extravagant; their regal appearance isn't all natural, you know.

Romantically speaking, Leos can be compared to an eternal flame; it burns steadily through the eons. The flame might not be extremely bright or hot, but it will stand the test of time.

They are ruled by the Sun: they receive their appreciation of life and their taste for adventure from this star. When in live, the Leo man usually showers his loved one with gifts while the Leo woman usually wants to be pampered and fussed over. (Editor's note: I know a few of these women...names withheld...M14). They demand a great deal of attention and affection although they don't always return it at 100% (more like 20% if they can get away with it).

You would never know they were introverted since they always seem to be the life of the party. I have a piece of advice, take it or leave it. Learn to express yourself more and only ask of others what you are willing to give yourself. In other words... GET A GRIP!

Famous people born under this sign include Neil Armstrong, Cecil B. De Mille, Napoleon Bonaparte, Orville Wright, Alfred Hitchcock, Mick Jagger, and Lucille Ball

Did You Know That...

The longest recorded fingernails were those of Shridhar Chillal of India. On his left hand, the measurements were; thumb (176cm) 1st finger (87cm) 2nd (94cm) 3rd (101cm) 4th (97cm). He last cut his nails in 1952.

Three percent of all men can suck themselves to climax in a procedure called autofellatio.

Once a male is erect and excited, a muscular ring near the bladder shuts off the flow of urine so that it is impossible for him to urinate. This protects the fragile sperm cells from the high acid content of the urine. However, there have been documented cases where this ring "malfunctioned" and consequently the man would experience what is called "Urgasm"

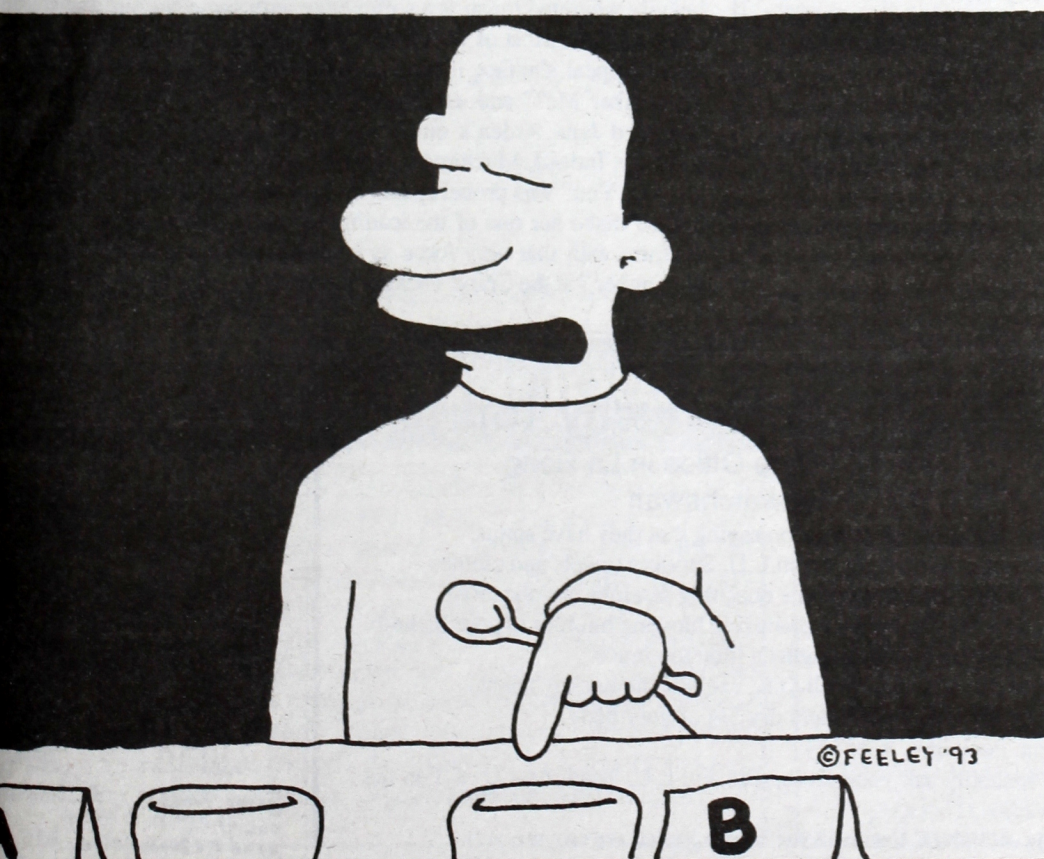

Walter Arfeuille of Belgium pulled a train weighing 83 891 lb. 8oz for a distance of 18ft 2in WITH HIS TEETH.

The longest period on record that anyone has stood continuously is more than 17 years in the case of Swami Maujgiri when performing the Tapasya or penance from 1955-1973. When sleeping, he'd lean against a plank. Think about that next time you complain about line-ups at the Registrar.

An aroused female's clitoris will become engorged with blood and become erect (like a penis). Furthermore, the inner labia, and outer labia will swell.

Brad Stine is a stand-up comic with a heart of gold, all of the time. Even after the spotlight at the pub on Saturday night was pointing at Toronto's Satellites and not at him, he was still performing. It's easier to find a good parking spot in the pit then it was to drag a straight answer out of him.

Stine has lived all over the U.S., but considers the area of Southern California recently destroyed by flames, home. Perhaps that's why he'd like to change his name to "Mother Brad Stine" (or "Ma" in the southern U.S) and lead the fight against homelessness. His target group? "Indigenous homeless people...indigenous headless homeless people, now there's a minority group that's ignored."

He had the crowd at the pub howling for the entire hour he was on stage with his thoughts on bodily functions, flight attendants, the French language, and buying pop in movie theatres. Perhaps even more memorable, though, was Stine's visual performance. Throughout the show, he proved his talent by making the audience laugh with just one goofy face or a silly walk. Yet more impressive were his facts at the show's close. Stine flossed his head, pulling a string out of his mouth through his nose, swallowed a steel spike, and ate fire.

Did he miss his calling? Should he have joined the circus? Stine's conscience wouldn't allow it. "Who am I to be having fun when there are homeless people who have never been on a trampoline?"

The Long and Short of it All?

"Have you heard about the penis-enlargement operation?" This seems to be the question of the day. Surprisingly, hundreds of men from all over Canada and the U.S have made appointments with Toronto plastic surgeon, Dr. Robert Stubbs (no pun intended), in order to find out what is involved.

My question to this is "how could they be so stupid?" Any operation that involves a 3 inch deep cut in a penis, followed by pulling out a portion of the penis which seemed quite happy inside the body out, is grounds for any male to wince. The operation, which can be yours for $3000.00 was perfected in China. Personally, I can think of other things to spend three grand on.

I guess I just don't understand why a man would want to go through such an ordeal. What will a larger penis do for you really? And just who do you plan on showing it to? Besides, I have yet to meet a woman who likes to see tight jeans on a guy (so they can show off their "equipment"). I'll always remember what my grandfather once said; "tight jeans are like a cheap hotel...No ballroom!"

Another question I have, is how do we men compare? How do we set a standard? Perhaps it is in the locker room, but really, who wants to spend time looking? And just what are you going to say when someone asks you what you're doing? Tying your shoe? Lost a quarter?

My last question is what will these men say after the operation? When asked why you're bent over and walking "funny", what'll you say? Gas?, Hernia? Fight with girlfriend?

If a large penis is that important to you and if you have such little faith in women, then save yourself $3000, and a lot of pain and wear a sock! Worry about the consequences later!

Stuff Your Ears Full of Moxy

by Andy McKillican

My immediate impression from the stage set-up was that we were going to be treated to some kind of children's show. It was the Canadian band, Moxy Fruvous, playing at the Grand Theater Sunday night. The set was put together with colourful flags showing the unmistakable, and somewhat notorious Moxy dog. 70% off signs hung from the ceiling which tipped us off that an anti-materialist message would likely prevade the evening.

The mood changed when Jane Arden took the stage. As an unlikely opening act for Moxy Fruvous, she was an excellent selection and was well re-delighted the crowd as she Though she was a mellow Fruvous, she set the music.

Finally, during the second encore a Bang-your-head feeling passed over the crowd with their Metal version of King of Spain. This being the loudest, thrashing song of the evening provided a startling contrast for their a capella, sans microphone version of the Gulf War Song. A stark silence came over the crowd; the band made an obvious impression as their voices echoed, undistorted, around the room.

The consensus among the audience members (more like participants), was that the show was well worth the nominal fee it cost.

JAN ARDEN Appearing at the Grand

by Shawn Rocca
Staff Writer

A & M recording artist Jann Arden has rapidly become one of the leading forces in Canadian music in a little less than over a year. Her phenomenal debut release, "Time For Mercy" is reaching gold status in Canada as she's currently in the midst of a Canada wide tour with Moxy Fruvous. The album has a share of up-tempo pop/rock tunes but is more heavily weighted towards a softer edge with some serious and sophisticated ballads. Most of which reveal a tender, yet powerful voice with a strong appeal. On fact, it is her prolific vocals on songs like, "Will You Remember Me?" and especially, "I Would Die For You" which has triggered Jann Arden's quick rise to the top of the Canadian Music Industry. Indeed, Muchmusic's power rotation of her smash, "I Would Die For You" was probably one of the key exposures for Arden which helped make her one of the leading forces in the business. Arden will perform with that very force as a special guest for Moxy Fruvous on November 7 at the Grand Theatre. This lady has a voice you will not want to miss.

Test de compétence et la performance étudiante

Martine Lefebvre

contributeur

Bien que ces étudiants soient en majorité (83,5%) des nouveaux diplômés des écoles secondaires de l'Ontario, ces tableaux comprennent également les résultats des étudiants qui ont amorcé ou complété des études de niveau universitaire ou collégial (soit 9,7%).

Depuis 1985, les étudiants de la Laurentienne doivent faire preuve de leurs compétences en matière écrite avant d'obtenir leur diplôme. La plupart des programmes exigent qu'ils obtiennent la cote de 2 dans les deux premières années d'études - une étape qui présente beaucoup de difficulté pour certains étudiants.

Pendant l'automne 1992, 457 étudiants se sont présentés au test de compétence en rédaction. Les résultats indiquent que 45,29% ont obtenu une cote inférieure à 2 et éprouvent des difficultés majeures en français écrit, bien que 44,4% d'entre eux aient déjà suivi des cours de niveau universitaire. L'amélioration de leurs compétences linguistiques ne dépend donc pas seulement de l'instruction qu'ils reçoivent au niveau post-secondaire, mais plutôt de la formation qu'ils ont reçue durant leur scolarité.

La population-cible comprend les 256 nouveaux étudiants qui se sont présentés au test de rédaction en septembre 1992. Les 256 nouveaux étudiants qui se sont présentés au test de compétence se sont classés de la façon suivante:

Classement	Nombre d'étudiants	Pourcentage
Cote 1	62	24.21%
Cote 2	79	30.85%
Cote 3	109	42.57%
Cote 4	6	2.34%

Tableau 5. Moyennes de 13ième et des cours de français par cote.

MOYENNE	Cote 1	Cote 2	Cote 3	Cote 4
13 ième année	76.1%	74.8%	70%	72.1%
Cours FRAOA	77.9%	74.4%	66.6%	71.6%
Cours FLIOA	77.4%	72.5%	69.8%	70%

Tableau 1: Profil linguistique des étudiants par rapport aux cotes

LANGUES	Cote 1	Cote 2	Cote 3
Français langue maternelle	98.3%	89.8%	88%
Français langue de communication	87%	88.6%	84.4%
Anglais langue maternelle	-	8.8%	10%
Anglais langue de communication	12.9%	11.3%	15.5%
Autre langue maternelle	1.6%	1.2%	0.9%
Langue maternelle non identifiée	-	-	0.9%

Le fait que certains étudiants aient été exposés à des cours de niveau post-secondaire ne semble pas avoir augmenté leur chance de succès puisque 48% ont obtenu la cote de 3. Par comparaison, les étudiants admis à titre de candidats adultes ont eu un taux de succès plus élevé - la moitié a reçu la cote 1 - malgré le désavantage d'une scolarité moins longue.

Parmi les étudiants qui ont obtenu la cote 4, tous identifient le français comme langue de communication et un seulement indique l'anglais comme langue maternelle. Le pourcentage d'étudiants qui préfère l'anglais comme langue de communication augmente légèrement par rapport au degré de difficulté éprouvé en français écrit. Les 15,5% des étudiants de la cote 3 qui identifient l'anglais comme langue de communication sont en majorité des étudiants qui ont transféré des différents collèges et universités en Ontario.

Les étudiants qui viennent des régions de l'Ontario où il n'y a pas une concentration de francophones ont eu plus de difficulté à obtenir la cote 1. Il est évident que pour ces étudiants le développement des compétences linguistiques en français devient difficile dans un contexte culturel essentiellement anglophone.

La majorité des étudiants (91,1%) ont complété soit le cours FRAOA ou FLIOA. Ceux qui ont suivi les deux n'étaient pas mieux préparés vis-à-vis du test de compétence puisque 48,6% ont obtenu une cote inférieure à 2. Le développement des compétences en rédaction ne dépend pas du nombre de cours de français auxquels ils ont été exposés mais plutôt de la qualité de l'enseignement qu'ils ont reçu non seulement dans ces cours mais aussi tout au long de leur scolarité.

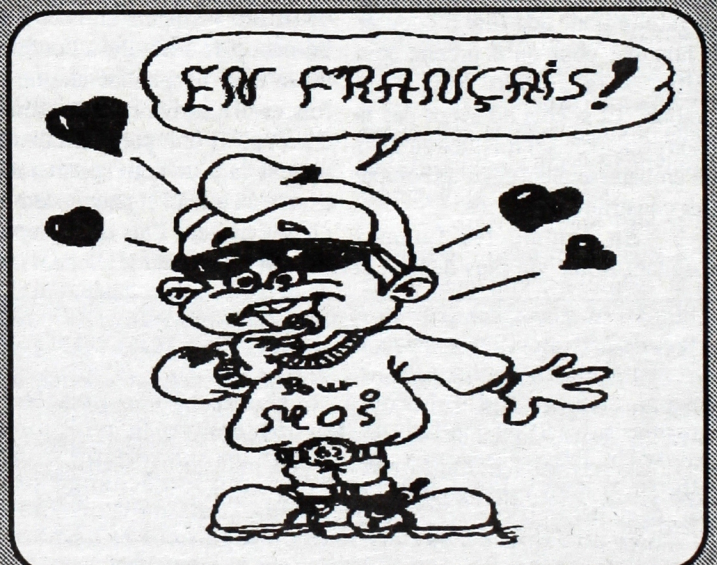

Finalement, l'expérience académique de niveau post-secondaire ne semble pas avoir augmenté les chances de succès vis-à-vis du test de compétence. Les résultats des étudiants qui ont transféré des institutions collégiales et universitaires sont remarquablement similaires à ceux des étudiants avancés de la Laurentienne. Le développement des compétences en rédaction est laborieux si la formation aux niveaux élémentaire et secondaire a été inadéquate.

RECOMMANDATIONS

Les résultats du test de compétence devraient être communiqués sur une base régulière (chaque année) aux responsables des programmes de français aux niveaux du Ministère de l'éducation.

Une étude similaire sur les résultats du test de compétence en anglais permettrait de vérifier l'ampleur du problème de communication écrite.

L'AMOUR REND L'HOMME SEMBLABLE À LA BÊTE ET SOUVENT LE FAIT MOURIR

Pépé Le Pew
Narrateur

Combien d'histoires sordides avez-vous entendues sur les femmes abusées, battues par leur mari. Combien de livres avez-vous lus, ou de films avez-vous écoutés. (Burning Bed), (Sleeping with the Enemy) et j'en passe. Et combien de fois avez-vous été témoin ou vous même la victime d'un tel "chum"?

Grâce à la révolution féminine, les femmes ont plus de ressources et beaucoup plus de droits leur situation va dans la bonne direction. Aujourd'hui les cas de violences sont dénoncés. On manifeste souvent pour les femmes qui ne peuvent plus marcher la nuit, pour les droits des homosexuels, contre les enfants abusés.

Mais il existe un crime dont on ne parle jamais, car personne ne peut penser qu'il existe.

La violence faite contre les hommes.

Les femmes qui abusent de leur "chum" ou de leur mari. Il n'y a pas beaucoup de cas qui sont rapportés car ceux qui sont les victimes, ont peur d'être les gignoles de la société.

quatre enfants, elle était très attirante pour son âge, et André s'en dérangeait pas beaucoup. Après deux semaines, il partit vivre avec elle.

La lune de miel dura à peu près six mois, il ne se doutait pas que six mois le tirerait dans cinq ans d'enfer. Elle le battait, elle lui faisait perdre tous ces emplois car sans argent il ne pouvait pas partir. Lorsqu'elle voulait le punir elle le faisait coucher dehors en hiver, ce n'était rien à comparer des humiliations verbales qu'elle employait. Le sexe, elle avait un tel contrôle, que lui, il devait la faire venir sans pénétration et lorsqu'elle était satisfaite, elle le renvoyait coucher sur le divan du salon. Lorsqu'elle était en colère après lui, elle détruisait ses vêtements, ses livres, ses papiers importants, il n'avait pas le droit d'avoir des amis, elle les faisait tous fuir. Il n'avait pas le droit d'utiliser le téléphone, il n'a jamais eu la clé de la maison chez elle. Souvent, il arrivait à son travail épuisé et rempli de marque bleu sur son corps. "Je suis tombé" était son excuse générale.

Pourquoi ne partait-il pas, n'appellait-il pas la police? Il est parti souvent chez lui au Québec mais elle venait le chercher et faisait croire à tout le monde qu'André avait des problèmes. Lorsqu'elle le ramenait elle recommençait.

à me taper sur la tête, le manche s'est cassé, avec le bout elle me l'enfonça dans le bras, c'est parce que je ne pouvais pas la repousser. J'avais peur d'elle et j'ai toujours dit que jamais je ne fesserais pas une femme.

Le propriétaire de la maison m'entendait crier c'est la seule fois quel s'est fait prendre.

Il lui a dit qu'il appellerait la police, elle s'est calmée puis c'est excusée et elle est partie.

Moi comme un maudit cave, je n'ai pas voulu appeler la police, parce que je pensais qu'elle changerait, après tout je l'aimais tellement."

André fait tout chez elle, le dîner aux enfants, le ménage, tout mais rien ne la satisfaisait. Puis un jour qu'elle le battait il la repoussa et lui dit "je veux que tu appelle la police" ce qu'elle fit, et elle prit ses affaires et les jeta par la fenêtre. La police arrêta André pour assaut sur Hélène. Il tenta d'expliquer, mais personne ne voulait le croire. Hélène qui avait des remords, trouva un avocat et l'aïda à ressortir. Après quelques semaines elle recommença!

André finit par la laisser. Elle rencontra quelqu'un d'autre, et avant de le laisser, elle lui dit: "Depuis le premier jour, où je t'ai connu je n'ai jamais été heureuse."

Puis André me dit "Aujourd'hui je me sens comme quelqu'un qui a passé sa vie en prison et qui sort pour la première fois."

qu'elle en avait 50 ans auparavant. Et même si le problème existe toujours, ces femmes, finissent par se libérer des tyrans qui les retiennent.

C'est vrai que les femmes sont beaucoup plus éduquées, plus indépendantes et beaucoup plus libres qu'avant. On ne se marie plus pour les mêmes raisons. Avant c'était obligatoire pour une fille d'épouser un homme, pour qu'il prenne soin d'elle; mais aujourd'hui, c'est l'amour. Et si cela ne serait pas la raison principale, je crois bien qu'elles ne s'embarasseraient pas d'un homme pour construire leurs vies.

En somme les femmes possèdent beaucoup plus depuis, et

Il savent que personne va croire leur côté de l'histoire.

Et bien, j'ai parlé avec l'un d'entre eux qui m'a été introduit par un policier de Toronto, et qui a bien voulu me raconter son histoire. Nous allons l'appeler André et elle Hélène.

André est arrivé à Toronto lorsqu'il avait dix-huit ans. Il venait de perdre ses petits amis et il avait beaucoup de difficulté à l'oublier. Il du se faire hospitaliser une ou deux fois, car il n'arrivait plus à se remettre du coup. Il finit par s'installer avec un ami dans un petit appartement, il trouva un travail et pour un temps les choses avaient l'air de ce replacer. Un soir, il rencontra Hélène, 41 ans et

"J'ai souvent pensé de mourir, je suis malheureux il y a des soirs que je me sens assez bas, les enfants rient de moi. Ils croient être obligés de m'humilier devant les voisins. Hélène, elle est trop occupée et jamais ici vers moi qui fait la bouffe pour les enfants. Une fois, je vivais chez des amis qui m'avaient ébergé et j'ai décidé de la laisser. J'écrivis une lettre et le lui porta dans sa boîte aux lettres.

Ah, tu peux être sûr que je le regrettais est arrivé. Elle montait dans ma chambre, rouge de colère et a tout détruit dans la chambre, puis lorsqu'elle a vu que je ne réagissais pas, elle a pris un balais et commença

Les jouets forment toute une vie!

Le pervers

Oh non! Il faut surtout pas vous faire des idées! Je n'avais pas seulement ma couverture et mes balles qui m'intéressaient. Non non, j'aimais tous les jouets. Surtout à fur et à mesure que je grandissais. J'avais aussi un jouet qui était formé d'une boîte avec différents trous, le jeu consistait dans le fait de mettre certaines formes dans les trous qui leur conviennent. Je dois avouer que cela ne m'a guère pris du temps à comprendre le jeu. Je veux dire qui aurait de la difficulté d'apprendre la philosophie de la pénétration? J'en éprouvais toute une jouissance lorsque l'objet choisi s'enfonçait dans le trou.

Par plus tard, malheureusement, j'ai appris que cela est seulement un jouet pour les petits bébés. Vous pouvez vous imaginer ma déception. C'est à ce moment là que je me consolais avec les beautés que la gourmandise nous offre. Les sucettes rien de telle! Ouvrir la bouche la laisser glisser dedans fermer les lèvres gentiment et déguster hm...hm...hm... Tous ces différents goûts, grandeurs, et largeurs c'est le paradis sur terre. Le paradis sur terre!

Malheureusement, ce plaisir ne dura pas. A l'école enfantine on me les a tous enlevés. Je pleurai sur les escaliers de l'école. Lorsqu'un enfant m'a souri et demandé si je voulais jouer à papa et maman. Je n'aimais pas ce jeu et on a bientôt fini par jouer au médecin. Là j'en ai appris à propos de l'anatomie humaine. Il y a vraiment des différences! On jouait, par la suite, tous les jours à ce petit jeu. C'est devenu un rituel pour nous. Et tous les jours notre jeu s'arrêta un peu plus loin....

Quand je rentrais à la maison je me plaçais devant le miroir et je poursuivais mon apprentissage de ce jeu. Soit disant le début de la masturbation.

Pour mon 7e Noël, j'ai reçu un jeu vidéo avec un sacré manche à balais. J'aimais le tenir, le serrer, le bouger et lui infliger son plaisir. Je jouais jour et nuit. Je ne pouvais guère me satisfaire de ce jeu. L'enfant qui jouait avec moi au médecin s'est senti abandonné et me demanda pourquoi je ne jouais plus avec lui. Ma réponse fut: "Il n'y a plus de défi dans ce jeu. On apprend plus rien!" L'enfant partit en courant et revient cinq minutes plus tard, avec quatre autres enfants. L'enfant me regarda et me dit: "D'accord, alors jouons tous à chercher la bouteille cachée!" Je m'amusais encore jamais autant. À tel point que je pense qu'il vaut mieux pas trop en compter. D'ailleurs je sais que je n'ai pas besoin de vous mentionner les petits détails car je sais que votre imagination fera le reste.

PROGRAMME D'ÉCHANGE ONTARIO \ RHÔNE-ALPES 1994-1995

Trente étudiants d'universités ontariennes seront sélectionnés pour effectuer leur année universitaire 1994-1995 dans des universités de la région de France, Rhone-Alpes. Les cours suivis en France seront crédités par les universités ontariennes. Une bourse de 1,500$ est offerte aux étudiants pour le programme d'échange pour les frais de voyage, l'assurance santé et les activités étudiantes. Une semaine d'orientation aura lieu avant le départ ou à l'arrivée en France. Les dépenses de logement et de nourriture (sur le campus) doivent être assumées par les étudiants (on compte une moyenne de 650$ vivre en France).

Critère d'admissibilité:

Ce programme s'adresse aux étudiants de toutes les disciplines avec une moyenne de B qui, au moment de leur demande de participation, sont inscrits à un programme de premier cycle d'une université de l'Ontario. Les participants doivent posséder la citoyenneté canadienne ou le statut d'émigrant reçu. Les étudiants sélectionnés devront s'inscrire à un programme d'études à plein temps dans une université de la région Rhône-Alpes pour l'année universitaire 1994-1995. Les participants doivent posséder une compétence linguistique en français répondant aux exigences de chacune des disciplines et de l'année d'étude. Un test de compétence linguistique peut être exigé.

Où trouver les dossiers de candidature:

Contactez: Le professeur Eugène O'Sullivan au Département de Droit et justice, bureau A-124 (poste 4333) ou la secrétaire du Département de Droit et justice, bureau A-126 (poste 4108)

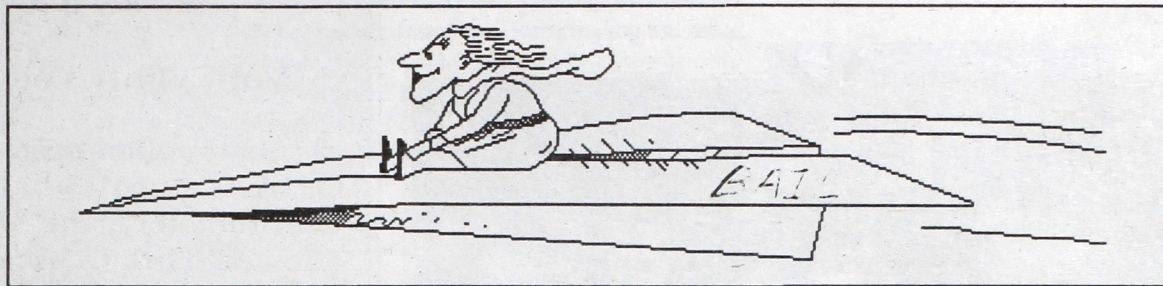

Date limite de dépôt des dossiers de candidature:

Les dossiers de candidature doivent être déposés au bureau du Département de Droit et justice, bureau A-124 au plus tard le vendredi 7 janvier 1994.

ENFIN DÉBARASSÉ DES PARENTS

Carine Schlup
Journaliste

Connaissez-vous le sentiment d'être enfin loin des parents? Vous avez enfin votre propre appartement. Vous pouvez faire TOUT ce que vous voulez. Cuisiner quand vous avez faim et même quand cela vous tente, sortir jusqu'au lendemain matin, amener à la maison qui vous voulez. Vous promenez à la maison dans la tenue que vous préférez, décorer l'appartement comme vous l'aimez, écouter de la musique aussi fort que possible, prendre six bains par jour, peindre vos murs en rose, donner des clés de l'appartement à tous vos amis, démolir un mur de l'appartement qui bloque le passage direct de la chambre à coucher à la cuisine, etc...

Les joies de vivre sans ses parents! Enfin avoir contrôle sur sa propre vie. ENFIN...! Mais réveillez-vous mes amis, il y a aussi des responsabilités qui ne se limite pas seulement à faire tout seul sa lessive. Posez-vous une fois ces questions:

- Qu'est-ce que j'ai le droit de faire dans l'appartement?
- Qu'est-ce que je ne devrais pas faire comme locataire?
- Est-ce que le montant de mon loyer

est légal? (Oui il y a une loi concernant l'augmentation des loyers.)

- Est-ce que je possède la liberté à laquelle j'ai droit comme locataire?
- Est-ce que la température de votre appartement à le droit de descendre en dessous de 21 degrés?
- Quelles sont mes responsabilités comme locataire?

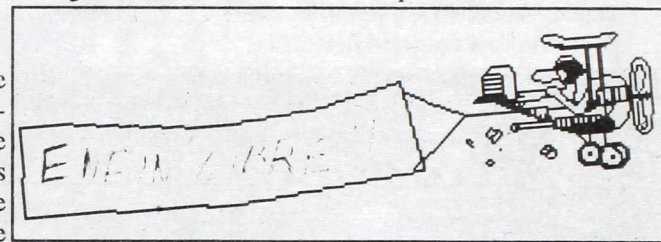

Votre responsabilité est de faire sûre que vous êtes traités d'une façon juste et légale. Ce n'est pas dit que si quelque chose est mentionné dans votre bail que c'est légal. Par exemple vous avez le droit de faire vérifier votre bail et même faire sûre que ce bail est légal.

Mais vivre en appartement, ne veut pas juste dire vérifier le bail il y a bien plus de choses. Sur une base régulière nous allons tenter de vous informer de vos droits mais aussi de vos responsabilités et respects envers le propriétaire.

Si vous avez des problèmes ou des questions qui n'ont pas été mentionnés ou tout simplement qui vous intéressent, ne gênez-vous pas, communiquez avec Jocelyne Côté, du service de logement hors campus, au Centre Étudiant salle L-229, 2e étage de l'Édifice R.D. Parker, au 675-1151 poste 1087.

Qui vas-tu appeler?

Norma MacRae-Ward
Agente, Harcèlement

Oui, les choses CHANGENT à la Laurentienne. Récemment, l'Université a renouvelé son engagement d'assurer des services à la population étudiante. Mais cela a créé tout un nouveau dilemme: parmi toutes ces personnes prêtes à aider, qui vas-tu appeler?

Claude Roy est le nouveau protecteur universitaire à la Laurentienne. Il assure la protection des droits des étudiants et étudiantes, et son mandat comprend les attributions suivantes:

- Examiner les griefs qui peuvent être portés contre l'Université (ou ses conseils, comités, départements, etc.) ou contre toute personne qui est au service de l'Université, normalement après le recours aux autres formes d'appel;

- Exercer les fonctions de médiateur;
- Fournir des renseignements généraux au sujet des règlements et procédures de l'Université;
- Soumettre ses conclusions et recommandations à l'autorité compétente.

Claude est une personne extrêmement serviable et obligeante. Il occupe le bureau 924 dans l'Édifice R.D. Parker, au même étage que le bureau de l'agente, Harcèlement.

En parlant de ce dernier bureau il y a lieu de mentionner que Norma MacRae-Ward assure depuis près de quatre ans les services énumérés ci-dessous:

- Renseignements au sujet du harcèlement et de la façon de le prévenir;
- Conseils sur les mesures à prendre dans des situations de harcèlement;
- Renvoi à d'autres services de soutien et d'information;
- Renseignements au sujet des procédures en vigueur à l'Université Laurentienne en ce qui concerne les plaintes.

Depuis le 11 juin dernier, on a élargi le mandat relatif au genre de plaintes de harcèlement dont s'occupent Norma et le Comité d'éducation sur le harcèlement. Leur mandat comprend maintes catégories de harcèlement prévues dans le Code des droits de la personne de l'Ontario, notamment:

- La race
- La couleur
- La croyance
- L'âge
- Un handicap
- L'ascendance
- L'origine ethnique
- Le sexe
- L'état matrimonial
- L'existence d'un casier judiciaire
- Le lieu d'origine
- La citoyenneté
- L'orientation sexuelle
- L'état familial

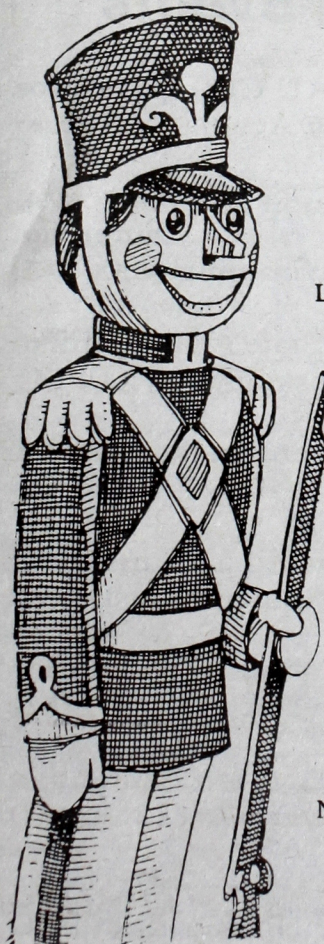

Pour obtenir de plus amples renseignements au sujet de la Politique touchant le harcèlement et les procédures relatives aux plaintes, n'hésitez surtout pas à appeler Norma au poste 3422.

Larry Denommé est le nouveau directeur associé du Service de sécurité à l'Université Laurentienne. Tu dois absolument connaître son numéro de téléphone: 673-6562, ou 673-2661 après les heures de bureau. Bien que Larry ne soit arrivé que récemment sur le campus, son visage est déjà bien connu et il est à l'entière disposition des étudiants et étudiantes qui ont des problèmes - il t'invite à lui en parler, le cas échéant.

Cette liste est loin d'être complète. Beaucoup d'autres personnes sont prêtes à t'aider: le personnel des Services aux étudiants, celui du Service de santé, la personne responsable de ton étage à la résidence, les membres de ton association étudiante. Dis-toi que si tu as un problème, tu peux obtenir de l'aide. Tu n'as pas à le régler par toi-même.

La soirée

Pierre Perreault

Réuni ensemble pour la soirée
Qui nous tient à coeur et qui nous cache tous ses mystères.
Ces mystères que nous voulons bien savoir
Car nous avons tous le désir de nous connaître.
Nous laissons de côté nos différences pour l'instant de la nuit.
Nous sommes égoïstes, car nous pensons à nous pour une simple fois, juste à nous seul.
Nous fêtons et nous dansons pour notre amitié, pour notre vie et pour notre survie de jeune.
Nous sommes jeunes, sans aucun souci de la vie.
Elle nous dévoile tout ce qui est beau.
Et, ce qui est difficile et mauvais nous l'échappons.
"Le téléphone, silence, silence" dit la voix pétée et pleine de joie.
Le jeune soldat de la vie ramasse le récepteur et tout semble trembler, lui et nous.
Nous tremblons car nous sommes un avec lui: en amour et en amitié.
Il crit peine et souffrance, il caresse quelqu'un qui est du support pour lui.
Il crit en désespérance, sa caresse qui tremble d'amour et de peine manquée.
Les coeurs de la salle saignent pour lui et son amour.
Ces coeurs battent en commun comme la grande horloge du temps et de la vie.
La seule idée du corps enseveli de peine "Pourquoi cet homme d'amour, que j'aime tant, pourquoi m'arrache-t-il du coeur le morceau qui est coeur?"
Le jeune soldat de la vie se dit "Courage, courage!"
Et laisse tomber son masque.
Et nous laisse voir et bien savoir qu'il aime et qu'il est humain.
Il crit en penchant vers le plancher qui le rassure.
Car il ne peut pas tomber bien plus loin.
Il frissonne de peine et murmure l'amour pour le défunt.
Quelle tragédie, que nous sommes les être vivants.
Nous ne sommes pas des êtres réfléchis qui pensent aux autres
Nous sommes des êtres égoïstes et barbares qui pensent seulement à leurs désirs.
Quelle tragédie de voir que le vrai amour et l'amitié l'un et l'autre doivent en venir au décès d'un être vivant.
Quelle tragédie! Nous sommes, nous sommes froids et égoïstes L'être humain est la tragédie de toute survie.

Hockey Vees Earn on Weekend

Last Saturday, the Laurentian hockey squad lost their match with the Guelph Gryphons by a score of 5-3. Rod Pasma, Dean Pella and Darren Maki scored the Vees goals. Guelph was on top of the mid East division, a few points ahead of the U of T Blues. Their goalie, Jeff Wilson is fourth in the league in terms of average with a 2.50 in 4 games.

On Sunday afternoon the Vees played the Blues. The always tough Blues played great hockey, but in the end fell 4-3 to the home team. Pat Armitage, Rob Mcaskill and Dean Pella with pair scored for the Vees while Sault Ste. Marie native Cory Ross made a number of key third period stops between the pipes. The weekend MVP was Dean Pella for his outstanding 3 goals and 2 assists.

Vees Split Volleyball Matches

Saturday Results
York 3
Laurentian 1

Sunday results
Ryerson 1

Laurentian hosted the York Yeomen in OUAA volleyball action last Saturday. Unfortunately, the Vees inconsistent play allowed York to escape with a 3-1 victory. The Vees sometimes spirited play allowed them to make the games close, but not enough for the win. The scores of the games were 15-3, 14-16, 15-4 and 15-13.

On Sunday, the Vees hosted the Ryerson Rams. Good defensive play as well as a powerful offense by Paul Rainville allowed the Vees to knock off Ryerson, by a score of 3-1.

Intramural Volleyball

Ladies and gentleman it is time to think about the 1993/94 Intramural Mixed Volleyball League. Regular season play begins January 6 and will run until February 15, with playoffs being held on February 18. Of course we realize that people might want to stay in and do homework during Carny Week so there will be no games scheduled. This year there will be 24 teams competing with every team having at least three females on the court at all times. Each player can only play on one team, and each team can only have one member from the Vees volleyball team.

To add a little twist to this year's schedule there will be two theme nights. On January 18 we will have "Country Night" where teams will get to show off their great western wardrobes, but please no horses. A prize will be awarded to the best line dancing duo during the evening. On February 10 everyone will be asked to wear some red for "Valentines Night". There will be a prize awarded for the best love letter of the night.

Coaches stay tuned for a general meeting to be held before exams start.

Volleyball Vees fall to Yeomen

Laurentian hosted the York Yeomen in OUAA volleyball last Saturday. Unfortunately, the Vees inconsistent play allowed York to escape with a 3-1 victory. The Vees sometimes spirited play allowed them to make the games close, but not enough for the win. The scores for the games were 15-3, 14-16, 15-4, 15-13.

The Vees second home game was on Sunday against the Ryerson Rams.

Ramprashad among the Top

Laurentian Vees goaltender Mike Ramprashad has the third best average in the OUAA. In 4 games, he logged 220:24 in the pipes, allowing 9 goals giving him a 2.45 average. Francois Gravel of UQTR only played 2 games for his 1.31 average and Phil Comtois of Ottawa played three games for his 1.67 average.

Soccer Score Update

In last week's Lambda, we reported that U of T Blues beat the Vees in semi-final soccer action. We gave the score as 2-2. The score was indeed 2-2, but after penalty kicks, the score was 4-3 in favour of the Blues.

Pizza Hut Athlete of The Week

The Laurentian University Pizza Hut Athlete of the Week is Dean Pella. Dean is a 4th year Arts student and defenceman on the hockey team. Over the past weekend, Dean registered 3 goals and 2 assists in a loss to Guelph and victory over Toronto.

Basketball Vees Reach Finals

Laurentian University hosted the Voyageur Invitational Tournament on Friday and Saturday with impressive results for our lads. On Friday night, the Vees clashed with the Western Ramblers (featuring top Mustang alumni), and defeated them in overtime by a score of 83-72. The Voyageurs were led by guard Shawn Swords with 22 points, forward Chris Fisher with 20 points and 14 rebounds, and point guard Brad Hann with 7 assists. Rookie guard Chris Bailey was named MVP for his great play. The Ramblers were led by Pete Vandebovenkamp who netted 18 points. The Western Ramblers were favourites considering their National Championship, with players from their 1991 CIAU championship team.

Although the Concordia Stingers were led by all-stars Robert Ferguson, Emerson Thomas and Fred Arsenault who led them to a 12-0 season in the QSSF, they fell to the Acadia Axemen 84-72. The Nova Scotians were led by Kevin Pick who netted 25 points and received the MVP for his efforts. Ferguson led the Stingers with his 23 points.

On Saturday, Concordia took on the Ramblers in the Consolation Final, while Laurentian met up with Acadia in the Championship Final. Western avenged their loss by knocking off the Stingers 86-75. The game MVP's were Dan Berry and Emerson Thomas. Later that evening, the Axemen took on the Vees and defeated them 80-63. Shawn Swords once again led the Vees with 23 points.

Tournament all-stars were Kevin Lee of Acadia, Pete Vandebovenkamp of Western, Emerson Thomas of Concordia, and Brad Hann and Shawn Swords of Laurentian. The tournament MVP was Jerome Carter of the Acadia Axemen.

OUAA Soccer Round-Up

Steve Martinovich
Sports Editor

The OUAA soccer season ended on November 7th with the OUAA Final. Queen's defeated Western 2-1 (4-3 in penalty kicks) to take the Blackwood Cup. This is Queen's first OUAA final since 1975-76. Previously, Queen's had only won the cup a total of three times (1912-13, 1969-70 and 1975-76.) The Queen's goal was scored by Todd Pierce and the Western goal was by Rich Price.

The race for the cup began on October 30. On that day the divisional semi-finals were held. In the East Division, the Queen's began their march by defeating Carleton 1-0 (3-2 in penalty kicks). The lone Golden Gaels goal was netted by Rich Price. U of T Blues met up with our Vees and defeated them 3-2 (4-3 in penalty kicks). The West Division semi-finals saw Western defeat Windsor 1-0 and last year's OUAA champions the McMaster Marauders defeat the Guelph Gryphons.

On November 3rd, the East Division Final saw the U of T Blues met up with and lose to Queen's 2-1 in overtime. McMaster's hopes of a second straight OUAA title died when they met up with the Western Mustangs, losing 2-1. The Marauders were 6-3-3 in regular season while the Mustangs were a mediocre 6-6. The results were certainly a surprise. Paul Hiilman scored both goals for Western, while Chris Markow notched the lone Marauder goal.

Staff Writer

This week's player profile focuses on "Horace" Grant Patterson. This third year Geography student is originally from Petetanguishene, Ontario. In his spare time, when he is not studying or playing volleyball, Grant enjoys playing hockey, skiing, golfing, and pitching fastball.

As a veteran middle blocker of the team, he feels that this young team will endure a tough challenging season. Grant also believes that the team has great bench strength which will be a key element to their success. What he enjoys the most about volleyball is winning and helping out his teammates in any way he can!

Next week, watch for the profile of one of the unique characters on the Vees.
